To Whom It May Concern:

I am a pastor, the head chaplain at our local hospital, and have served over twenty years in ministry. Having been involved in hospice care and meeting the needs of the dying and their families, I am greatly appreciative of the importance and value of well-trained support people in this field. Samara Fritchman is not only eminently qualified to present seminars on a wide variety of topics, but is also personable and able to present in many settings.

I had the pleasure of attending a seminar given by Dr. Fritchman entitled "Ethics: Essential Knowledge for Today's Counseling, Mental Health, and Healthcare Professionals" in July of 2008. I expected the material to be dry and clinical in nature, and was delightfully surprised, especially in the presentation. Samara kept it engaging, relevant, and dynamic. While her experience and background make for a comprehensive exploration of the subject, Samara's delivery made the material easy to understand and absorb. Incorporating her methodology and concepts into practice in the varied fields of healthcare, hospice, counseling and ministry can be quite challenging, but Samara made it doable. What a blessing it has been to learn from her.

I am truly looking forward to taking another course from Dr. Fritchman, and would enjoy hearing her ministry presentation any time I have the opportunity. She does an excellent job, and offers a balanced approach to the subject matter. I also enjoy her sense of humor, as it lightens and livens up any topic she presents. I am sure you will agree with me, once you've heard her speak. If you have any questions, please feel free to contact me.

Sincerely,

(Rev.) Taube D. Jenkins, D.Min.
