I attended two of Samara's Ethics workshops, some years apart. I was very impressed both times with her presentation style, her love of the field and her practical approach. It is not fear based. It is positive and informative and interesting.

I contacted her two times for help and received it quickly. One question was for information on court subpoenas and the other was a licensing question state to state. She gave me resources to contact which helped. I highly recommend her workshops to be better informed, up to date and effective as a counselor.
