To Whom It May Concern:

Dr. Samara C Kezele Fritchman, CEAP, LMHC, PhD, EJD has been with the Institute for Natural Resources (INR) since 2018. She currently writes and presents continuing education webinars nationally on Ethics for Mental Health Professionals, Suicide Assessment, Diversity/Cultural Competence, DSM-5-TR Review, Healing the Inner Child, Clinical Documentation, and Post-traumatic Growth.

Drawing from her years of experience in clinical practice, Dr. Fritchman (Samara) creates new programs for INR that serve the continuing education needs of healthcare and mental health care professionals.

Samara is the NBCC ACEP Program Administrator for the Institute for Natural Resources (INR). She evaluates courses to determine if they meet NBCC [National Board for Certified Counselors] requirements for continuing education for NCCs (National Certified Counselors).

As a successful entrepreneur, Samara presents INR with creative programming and business development ideas. INR has received excellent course evaluations from participants who have attended Samara's presentations.

INR hopes to continue to partner with Samara for a long time.

Sincerely,

Deborah Cheung, MS, MBA
